

Negotiated Viet Settlement Is Said Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen declared today it would be "dangerous to our security" to negotiate a settlement in South Viet Nam.

The Senate Republican leader announced he plans to answer Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who called Wednesday for efforts to bring about a cease-fire in South Viet Nam.

These were part of a series of speeches obviously designed to influence President Johnson's course in what the chief executive told the National Industrial Conference Board is "the very serious situation in Viet Nam."

Johnson said that in South Viet Nam "we will persist in the defense of freedom and our continuing actions there will be those which are justified and those that are made necessary by the continuing aggression of others."

In such a situation, Dirksen said he finds it "difficult to understand why members of the President's party are suggesting negotiations and other measures which would definitely diminish our prestige, weaken our position in that part of the world and have a definite impact on the thinking people in other areas of the world."

The Republican leader said it would be "dangerous to our security and that of our free world allies" to negotiate with the Communists who, he said,

King Broadens Drive in Selma

New Civil Rights Actions Hinted

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says that what he calls broader civil disobedience measures will be undertaken in Selma unless Negro civil rights demands are met by city and county leaders.

"Selma still isn't right," King said Wednesday night after a strategy conference with leaders of the current right-to-vote drive, now in its fifth week.

King said "that far from letting up on activities in Selma and Dallas County we are going to broaden and intensify these activities."

If demands are not met, he told a mass meeting at a Negro church, "we must engage in broader civil disobedience measures to bring the attention of the nation on Dallas County."

"It may well be we might have to march out of this church at night. We may have to fill the jails of Selma and Dallas County," King said.

King, still suffering from a cold and fever, scheduled a morning flight to Atlanta today along with several of his top aides. He said he plans to return to Selma Sunday night to intensify the vote drive.

The 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner told the meeting that voter registration procedures are far too slow and Negroes will not be content in Alabama until they "can register to vote without a single stumbling block."

King said, "Until Sheriff Clark is removed, the evils of Dallas County will not be removed."

Sheriff James G. Clark, 42, is the symbol of resistance to the Negroes. The officer arrested more than 3,000 during the first four weeks of the campaign starting Jan. 18.

Dallas County has about 29,515 persons of voting age, 14,400 whites and 15,115 Negroes. Registered voters in March 1964 totaled 9,542 whites and 335 Negroes.

Medics Indicate Amnesia In Johnson-Bader Case

OMAHA (AP) — A physician for Omaha television announcer John F. (Fritz) Johnson reported today that two psychiatrists "could find no indication that Mr. Johnson has any recollection of his life as Larry Bader."

Johnson's attorney has said there is no doubt that his client is Lawrence J. Bader of Akron, Ohio, missing for nearly eight years.

Johnson had undergone eight days of testing by four physicians—two of them psychiatrists—and a psychologist.

Dr. Lee C. Bevilacqua, Johnson's family physician, told newsmen the psychiatrists could find no neurotic or psychotic tendencies to explain Johnson's loss of memory.

"The inability to recall such an extensive and vital period of a person's life obviously represents a deep seated psychiatric problem," Dr. Bevilacqua said.

He told newsmen Johnson will commence psychotherapy, probably in a very few days.

The physician said it would be "mere conjecture" to ascribe specific reasons for Johnson's loss of memory in view of the medical tests reported.

Johnson's attorney, Harry Farnham, said the Bader family in Ohio had been advised "in a general way" of the contents of the report Wednesday night. But, he said, the medical information would be given the Ohio family in detail.

Johnson was released from the hospital Wednesday afternoon and after a brief reunion with his wife and two children went into seclusion at the home of a friend. Johnson intends to

Rhodes Policy Is Labeled As Mortgage

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has mortgaged the state's future while failing to maintain progress in several of his programs, former Democratic Gov. Michael DiSalle said Wednesday.

Without mentioning Rhodes by name, DiSalle attacked his Republican successor on 14 points in a speech at a Democratic meeting in suburban Rocky River.

Ohio's debt and borrowing have soared in the past two years along with state spending, DiSalle said, but the state has reduced its support to public education, universities and mental health programs.

DiSalle, first Ohio governor elected to a four-year term (1958-62), said the state has shifted more of the burden of welfare and education to local communities, and Ohio's national standing in highway construction has fallen.

The former governor said "every excess (in spending) is justified on the basis of producing additional jobs." DiSalle challenged Rhodes to support his claim of industrial growth and "name the companies and the part his government played in location in Ohio."

live apart from his Omaha family while legal details of his confused double life are ironed out.

Larry Bader was married and the father of four.

Neither Johnson nor his beautiful wife, Nancy, was present at today's news conference.

Farnham reported to newsmen that a support check for the current week had been mailed to representatives of Mrs. Larry Bader. He said complete details of the finances of Nancy and Fritz also were being made available to the family in Ohio.

Farnham said that so far as he knew Johnson was still employed by an Omaha television station and that he had seen Johnson's pay check for the current week. Farnham described Fritz as emotionally exhausted though Dr. Bevilacqua's medical statement reported him to be in good physical condition.

Final Respects Paid Nat Cole

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Notables of the entertainment world pay their final respects to Nat King Cole at private funeral services in St. James Episcopal church today.

The 45-year-old singer and jazz pianist died Monday of cancer.

Eulogies will be delivered by Jack Benny and George Jessel. The religious rites will be conducted by the Rev. Samuel D. Amico. Burial will follow at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in nearby Glendale.

Those selected as honorary pallbearers include California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., song writers, band leaders, actors, singers and other entertainers.

Viet Reds Rap Village Shelling

Commando Boats Said To Blame

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Viet Nam charged today that four South Vietnamese commando boats shelled a North Vietnamese village and that two of the raiding boats were damaged by North Vietnamese patrol boats.

"Commando ships of the United States and Saigon administration" shelled Quynh Lap commune in Nghe An Province at 12:30 a. m. today," Col. Ha Van Lau, chief of the Communist liaison mission, told the International Armistice Commission in Hanoi.

The colonel's complaint was reported by Hanoi Radio, which said the commando boats were met with answering fire from the shore "by the local armed forces."

The broadcast called the attack "a new, extremely serious act of provocation by the United States and its stooges, a gross encroachment on the sovereignty and territory of the democratic republic of Viet Nam and an impudent violation of the 1954 Geneva agreements on Viet Nam."

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon declined comment on the Hanoi report.

Speaking in general terms of South Vietnamese naval activity, however, he said that South Viet Nam's military forces have the prerogative and right to take any action necessary to defend South Viet Nam from aggression from the North.

The Vietnamese government reported a major engagement today in Quang Trin Province, where the government claimed 200 Viet Cong were killed two weeks ago.

Spokesmen said one ranger company and one infantry battalion were involved. First reports said 16 government soldiers had been killed, 28 wounded and 29 were missing. There were no reports yet of Viet Cong losses.

An American Marine enlisted adviser was seriously wounded by sniper fire today in Quang Nai Province, 330 miles northeast of Saigon. He was part of a "search and destroy" mission which estimated it had killed 25 Viet Cong.

U.S. Agency Hit for Fund Divvy in Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert E. Sweeney, D-Ohio, says the Interior Department discriminates against Ohio's taxpayers.

In a letter to Secretary Stewart L. Udall, Sweeney said Ohio contributed more than $6.6 billion in federal taxes last year to rank sixth among the states in the amounts contributed.

"In the light of the enormity of this tax contribution," Sweeney wrote "it is appalling to note that the Interior Department only intends to spend $3,698,500 in Ohio in the next (fiscal) year, out of a total department appropriation of $837,249,000."

Ohio is being relegated to the 34th position among the states insofar as Interior Department expenditures are concerned, Sweeney said, "at a time when the development of parks and recreational lands is desperately needed in Ohio."

"It is a sad commentary that Ohioans have to take their families to the neighboring states of Michigan, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania in order to enjoy family recreation," Sweeney said.

Pope Cites 'Duty'

World Is Urged To Shun War

NEW YORK (AP) — Pope Paul VI told a global peace conference today that all nations have a duty to foster friendship and shun armed conflict in "the present grave international crisis."

Failure to do so, he said, "would have incalculable and frightful results for all mankind."

His message came as eminent scholars and statesmen from around the world met to seek practical steps for preserving peace in an era of tension and nuclear weapons.

The gathering, inspired by the encyclical, Peace on Earth, of the late Pope John XXIII, brought together an illustrious company of intellectuals and government leaders.

About 1,500 of them, from the West and the Communist East, were registered for the three days of discussions.

The affair, privately sponsored by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, was titled "International Convocation on Pacem in Terris (Peace on Earth)."

Nobel Prize-winning physicist Linus Pauli told an initial working session the "injustice and immorality of the great wars of the past would be far transcended by a great war in the nuclear age."

"Instead of tens of millions, hundreds or even thousands of millions of human beings might be killed. Great nations might be exterminated. Civilization might come to an end. There is even the possibility that the human race would not survive the catastrophe."

Pope Paul, in a telegram relayed through Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, voiced a "prayerful desire" that the deliberations here "lead to positive action for world peace."

In a second message, handwritten to Robert M. Hutchins, conference chairman and president of the sponsoring center, the Pope reiterated his hopes for the meeting's effectiveness and impact.

Terrorist Plot Probe Pressed

Authorities Seek Other Members

NEW YORK (AP) — New York police, the FBI and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police sought possible additional members today of the thwarted terrorist plot to dynamite the Statue of Liberty the Washington Monument and the Liberty Bell.

Authorities refused to comment on reports the search had spread to Cleveland, Detroit, Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago, Baltimore, Toronto and Montreal.

With the aid of Raymond Wood, 31, a Negro undercover policeman, the dynamite scheme was uncovered Tuesday. Police arrested three American Negroes and a white Canadian woman and charged them with attempting to blow up the three national shrines.

Twenty-two sticks of dynamite, said to have been transported from Canada by one of the four, Michelle Duclos, 28, were seized.

First Mishap in 87 Years Is Real Lulu

CLAY CENTER, Kan. (AP) — Andrew Anderson lost control of his car Wednesday as he pulled out of a filling station in downtown Clay Center, and it banged into nine other parked vehicles.

"I couldn't stop it," said the retired farmer, who is 87. "I never had an accident before."

No one was hurt, but Chief of Police Earnie Roll estimated the damage to the 10 vehicles at $3,000. There also was some damage to a building.

Aviatix Feared Victim Of Crash in California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first woman to fly the equatorial route around the world is believed to have piloted a small plane that crashed in the San Gabriel Mountains Wednesday, killing the two women aboard.

Although the coroner's office declined official identification until her husband views the badly burned bodies, the husband said he had no doubt his wife, Joan Merriam Smith, 28, is dead.

Authorities believe the other woman was Tracie Ann Schubert, 42, of Los Angeles, who was writing Joan's life story.

Sheriff's deputies and federal authorities reported that the women took off toward the area of the crash from nearby Long Beach.

"I don't have any doubt (that Joan died), because the plane never came back," Lt. Cmdr. Marvin (Jack) Smith Jr., her husband since 1960, said Wednesday night. "But I won't go down there (to the coroner's office) until tomorrow."

Area Seen Key To Red Drive

Situation Grave, But Not Hopeless

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today "the present situation in South Viet Nam is grave but by no means hopeless."

McNamara stressed that the outcome in South Viet Nam is the key to stemming Communist expansion throughout strategic Southeast Asia and other emerging areas of the world.

"Considering the great stakes involved in this struggle," he declared, "I see no other alternative for the United States" than continuing to support South Viet Nam against the Red guerrilla onslaught.

McNamara said this country cannot pull out.

He discussed the Viet Nam war, and its wide implications, in a statement prepared for a closed-door session of the House Armed Services Committee, set up to hear McNamara outline the general defense situation.

There was no mention of such developments as Communist mortar and bomb attacks on U.S. installations in South Viet Nam, nor American retaliatory air strikes against North Viet Nam.

McNamara's public statement was a censored version of a much longer secret report he made to the committee. It covered his estimate of the world situation in general, and his proposals for strengthening U.S. military power under a $49-billion defense budget.

"The stakes in South Viet Nam are far greater than the loss of one small country to communism," McNamara said. "We may be certain that as

Someone Up There Watches Thieves

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Somebody up there was watching when three young hubcap thieves wheeled into the parking lot at Love Field, the city airport.

Swiftly they popped the hubcaps from a parked car, climbed into their own auto and started a getaway. It ended a block later as police stopped them Wednesday.

The hubcaps belonged to W. J. Shelton, who works in the airport control tower. He had a bird's eye view of the theft, and all sorts of communications to call police.

The youths were turned over to juvenile authorities.

world's imagination last year with their race to become the first woman to circle the globe. Mrs. Mock finished her 'round-the-world trip before Joan, but Joan claimed victory because she flew the so-called Amelia Earhart or equatorial route, which was 4,000 miles farther.

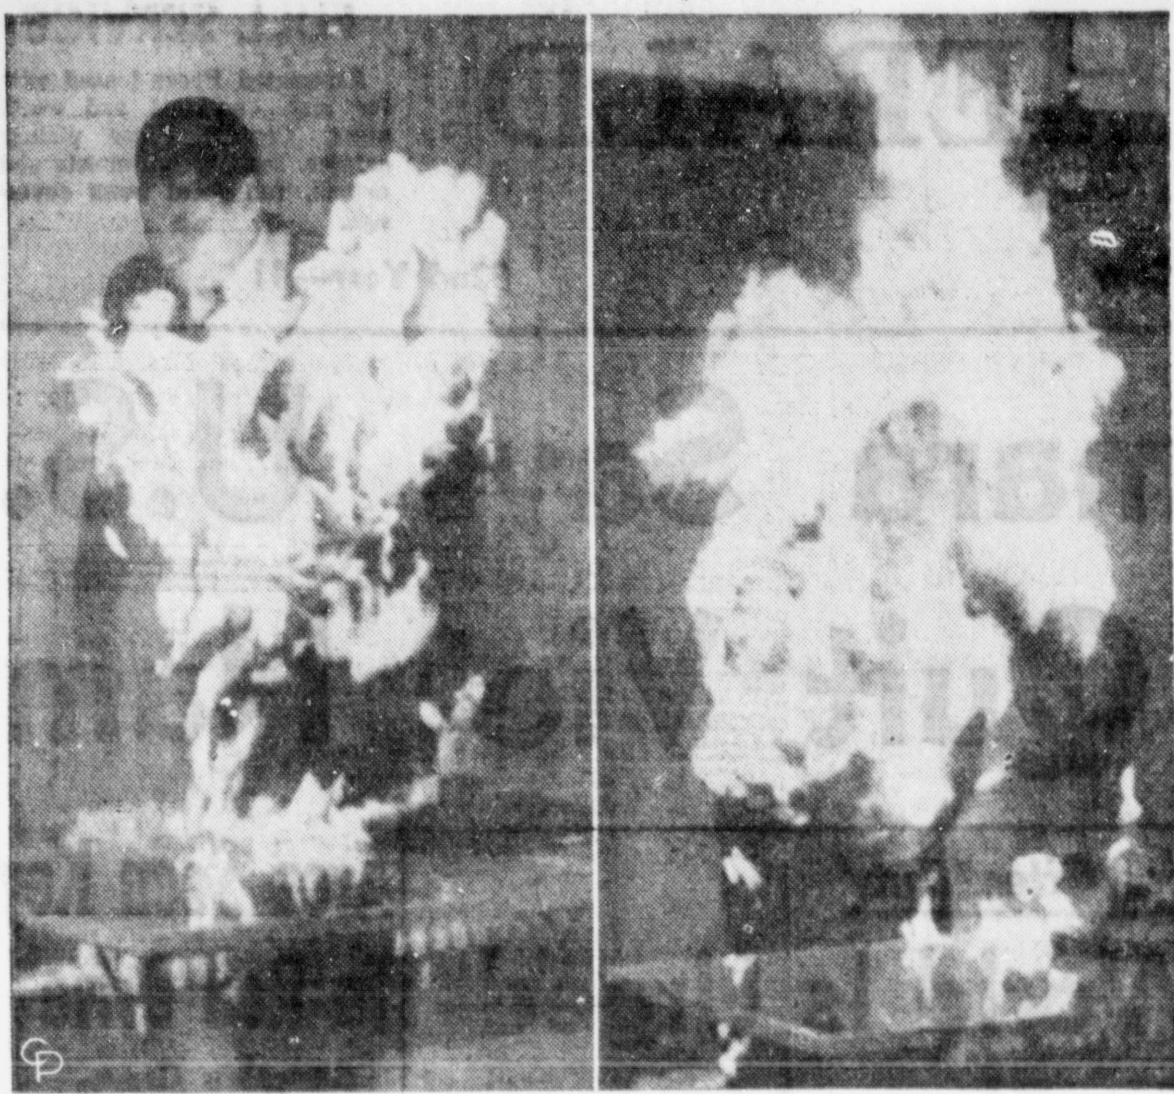

Her 27,750-mile flight took 23 days of flying time. She was delayed 33 days by weather mechanical trouble and even a revolution in Brazil. She made 34 stops and crossed the equator five times.

Joan just recently walked away from a crash landing in the California desert. That crash destroyed the light plane she used on her epic flight, a twin-engine Piper Apache. Wednesday she was flying a 182 Cessna.

"After all those years and all those thousands of hours, why did it have to happen like this," said her mother, Ann Merriam, of Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Schubert also was a veteran pilot. She flew in two Powder Puff Derbys—transcontinental air races for women—in 1958 and 1964.

She was married to Dr. Delwyn G. Schubert, a college professor. They had three children.

McNamara Doubts Cities To Be Spared in A-Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told Congress today it is unlikely that a massive nuclear attack on the United States by the Soviet Union would spare American cities at the start and hit only military targets.

The defense chief discarded the no-cities theory which some U.S. strategists have entertained, hopefully, in predicting the form of any general war.

In his annual military posture statement, prepared as the foundation for his testimony before the House Armed Services Committee, McNamara did not name Red China as an immediate menace to American targets, despite her detonation of a nuclear test device and a U.S. prediction that another may be forthcoming in the near future.

But he did not rule out the long-range menace of the Chinese Communist power.

Attempted B & E Probed at Palm's

An attempted burglary last night at Palm's Carryout, 435 E. Main St. was investigated by Circleville Police.

An unidentified subject was seen breaking a large plate glass window at the establishment, police said today.

The subject grabbed an empty wine bottle used for display purposes from the window and fled, according to witnesses.

Commissioner Michael J. Murphy said of the four. "We have no idea how many people might be involved."

Murphy cited the work of Wood in infiltrating the pro-Castro, pro-Communist Chinese Black Liberation Front and gave the rookie policeman another promotion Wednesday.

Wood first won a promotion to detective third grade, then later was elevated another step to detective second grade, pushing his annual salary to $8,572 — an increase of $1,925 over the $6,647 he had been drawing as a patrolman.

The four accused, in addition to Miss Duclos, a Montreal television commentator, are Robert S. Collier, 28, said to be the leader of the group; Walker A. Bowe, 32, a supporter of the now-defunct Fair Play for Cuba Committee; and Khaleel S. Sayeed, 22, a former engineering student who also is charged with disorderly conduct for demonstrating in front of the United Nations building last December.

An interval between the two types of Red attack would give time for U.S. missiles of the "damage limiting" portion of the strategic forces to be launched against still unfired Soviet missiles.

McNamara put it this way: "Our missile forces would be most effective against the enemy bombers and ICBMs if the attack on our urban centers were withheld for an hour or more after an attack on U.S. military targets — an unlikely contingency."

"Our manned bomber forces would be effective in the damage limiting role only if the enemy attack on our urban centers were withheld several hours."

Countywide Fire Radio System Eyed

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and representatives of the various volunteer fire departments in the county will meet Tuesday with the County Board of Commissioners to discuss the possibility of a countywide fire radio communications system.

The need for such a communications system was emphasized by Sheriff Radcliff Monday evening in a meeting with area fire officials.

The Ashville - Harrison Department currently is the only area unit that is radio equipped.

Radcliff noted such a system would be invaluable in fire-fighting operations between departments with mutual aid agreements.

soon as they had established their control over South Viet Nam, the Communists would press their subversive operations in Laos and then in Thailand."

The result: "We would have to face this same problem all over again in another place or permit them to have all of Southeast Asia by default."

Then, McNamara appeared to embrace the "domino theory" which holds that a stand must be made against communism lest one vulnerable Asian nation after another fall into the Red orbit.

Even more broadly than Southeast Asia, McNamara said, a Communist success in South Viet Nam would be claimed as proof positive that the Chinese Communist position favoring violent revolution is correct.

Detailing the situation in the Vietnamese war, the Pentagon leader spoke of "a familiar series of problems—the increasing Viet Cong capabilities, and the losses of combat experienced South Vietnamese small unit leaders and soldiers."

However, McNamara told the committee, the past year also brought some encouraging developments.

The South Vietnamese regulars have been "considerably strengthened by the continuing flow of new equipment," plus more training and experience in the field, he said.

In battle, McNamara said, the Vietnamese forces have "shown encouraging progress in operational planning, in reaction time, and in interservice coordination."

The fighting performance of the Vietnamese regulars "continues to inspire confidence, and toward year's end we noted improvements in recruiting and in active duty strength," McNamara testified.

In the struggle between the Saigon government and the Communists for the loyalty of the Vietnamese people, McNamara said the picture "is not as good," particularly in the countryside.

Experts on Viet Nam contend that this struggle is the pivotal factor in the war — that without the support of the peasants the government can't hope to win.

Touching on other trouble spots in Southeast Asia, McNamara said:

Laos—"The future of Laos is intimately tied to the outcome of the struggle in Viet Nam. The Communists in the last year have made some gains. These gains were partially offset by clearing operations along the key route between Vientiane and the royal capital of Luang Prabang."

"Should the Communist conclude that U.S. support of the independent nations of Southeast Asia is flagging, we can expect that the Pathet Lao with North Vietnamese help will resume the offensive."

Thailand — "The northeastern and northern regions of the country remain vulnerable to Communist attack and subversive penetration."

Indonesia — "A stepup in its military - political confrontation with Malaysia further strains Indonesia's relations with free nations."

Cambodia — "Our relations with Cambodia continued to deteriorate during the past year. Prince Sihanouk has embarked upon a policy of cultivating closer relations with Peiping, Hanoi and the South Vietnamese 'liberation front.'"

Hospital Census Shows Increase

A report disclosing an improved patient census for January was welcomed when Berger Hospital's Board of Governors - Commissioners met last night for a regular session.

The board's heavy agenda included approval of a motion that extended an invitation to the Hospital General Guild to attend monthly Governor-Commissioner meetings.

Members agreed that the invitation was to be extended preferably to the Guild president or her designated representative. The many services and valuable assistance provided the hospital by the Guilds were extensively reviewed. The motion was unanimously accepted.

Statistics listing the percentage of occupancy on an official adult basis for January at 72.28 was warmly received by the board. It reflects a considerable increase over the 52.42 per cent figure for December.

Pollution In Mahoning Under Fire

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The Mahoning River is being polluted by Ohio communities and industries, and the pollution threatens the health of Pennsylvania residents.

That was the verdict of officials of the Public Health Service after a two-day hearing conducted here.

The oral findings were delivered by Wally Postom of the Chicago office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare at the close of the conference Wednesday.

One federal spokesman said he expects regulatory action to be taken under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act. However, Murray Stein, chief HEW water pollution control enforcement officer, says he expects industries to take the necessary corrective action on a voluntary basis.

Representatives of area industry contend that a continuing program, instituted 10 years ago, has done much already to correct the problem.

The Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission and the Ohio and Pennsylvania health departments opposed findings of the hearing. They were granted two weeks to study the matter and to file their own findings.

West Berlin Raps

Concert by Russian

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet violinist David Oistrakh is running into a protest by the West Berlin government because of his planned concert next month.

A spokesman for the city administration said Wednesday it opposes concerts in West Berlin by Soviet artists whose appearances are not covered by a West German-Soviet cultural agreement.

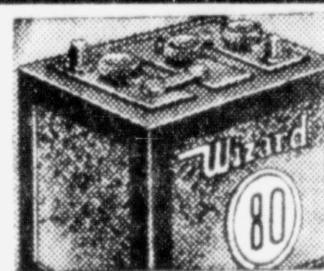

As a result, the city government is hoping plans will be dropped for Oistrakh's concert March 9-13.

Reforming Foundations

New restrictions on the activities of tax-exempt private foundations are proposed by the Treasury Department. As the Treasury's report to Congress observes, the "belief is becoming more widespread" that the foundation in too many cases has become another "tax dodge."

The Treasury would correct practices that have drawn criticism in congressional investigations. It recommends banning financial dealings between a foundation and its donors, officers or trustees; limiting foundations to owning less than a 20 per cent interest in any ordinary business and barring them from speculating in stocks and commodities. Foundations would be required to pay out income from investments within a year after earning it and their control would have to pass to non-family trustees after 25 years.

The Treasury would achieve reform without resorting to the extreme measures favored by some congressional critics. It rejects, for example, their recommendation that all foundations be limited to a life of 25 years. There is no reason why foundations should be forced to liquidate as long as they serve legitimate public purposes. Similarly, the Treasury can see no merit in the proposal that foundations be subjected to regulation by a new federal agency.

The Treasury maintains, as some of the critics do not, that many foundations are providing valuable service. They are, it says, powerful instruments for growth and improvement in "the shape and direction of charity."

Under existing conditions, however, this rule is being obscured in the public mind by questionable practices of the multitude of foundations where tax avoidance is obviously the primary objective.

Things We Could Do Without

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Some things we could do without:

Girls over 10 who wear dresses above their knees. Esthetes who can't appreciate anything written or painted before they were born. Night clubs so crowded that if you applaud your arm knocks a steak off the next table. Ladies who think it is cute to smoke a jeweled pipe in public, but expect a man to keep lighting it for them.

Prophets who say the world soon is coming to an end. Millionaires who never pay the cab fare because they never have anything smaller than a $50 bill on them. Any politician anywhere who wants to raise a tax on anything for any reason. Automatic dishwashers that always overflow so you have to mop the kitchen.

Hostesses who insist on their guests playing charades. Fond mothers who hand you babies to hold that have queasy stomachs. Poodles with haircuts like teen-agers, and teen-agers with haircuts like poodles.

Strangers who rap on your door to ask you to contribute to strange causes—such as a campaign to wipe out betel nut chewing in Burma. Television commercials that hold out hope you can solve all your major problems by switching deodorants, hair goos, toothpastes or mouth washes. And fat ladies who believe they can lose weight through hypnosis.

Drunken old buddies who call you up after midnight from far places and want to relive the past. Anybody who tries to sell you anything over the phone. Stenographers with fingernails an inch longer than their fingers.

Old grads who are always trying to get the scalp of their alma mater's football coach. Laundries that put starch in your collar no matter how many times you tell them you don't want starch in your collar. Executives who clip their fingernails while bawling out underlings. Magazine articles giving the favorite recipes of movie stars who actually couldn't cook a three-minute egg in a year.

All people who insist on telling you about their divorces, their dreams, their diets — or a new series of isometric exercises that will make you so strong you can tear a deck of cards in half with one hand.

From these, and many another pest, let us have rest.

You're Telling Me!

A midwesterner was charged with possessing counterfeit money because there was said to be a smirk on the face of Alexander Hamilton on a $10 bill. In any event—it certainly was no laughing matter.

Which reminds us, when he was asked whose face appears on U. S. $20 bills, F. E. F. answered: "How would I know? —I'm married!"

The mean annual temperature on the island of Massawa in the Red Sea, according to our office atlas, is 86 degrees. Shucks!—that doesn't seem so very mean!

A Wyoming attorney referred to a group of pickets not as pickets but said they were really "informational placard bearers." Wonder what that makes the sandwich-board men?

It's been so cold in some of the Plains States, Zadok Dumbkopf says we should more properly refer to 'em as the "Wild and Woolen Underwear West."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I have recently been denied an insurance policy because I had been under treatment for an increase of insulin in my system. Is this condition so serious that it would warrant such a denial? Now I am doubly frightened because the insurance company attaches so much importance to this condition.

Mr. D.D.,

California

Dear Mr. D.: The condition you refer to, "an increase of insulin in the system," is known as hyperinsulinism. This is responsible for symptoms associated with a low blood sugar level.

The fact that you have been denied an insurance policy does not necessarily suggest the seriousness of this or any other body condition. Insurance policies are almost always mathematically defined by statistics of health and disease. It is the right of a particular company to decide on the "risk" of a known disease.

The judgment of your physician, his diagnosis and treatment is far more significant as an indication of your health than is the routine denial of an insurance policy.

Unfortunately, many people have had fears introduced into their lives by similar situations. Conditions as readily controlled as hyperinsulinism need not be a constant source of anxiety because of such an experience.

Dear Mrs. W.: You have made the first important move toward your return to health by recognizing the fact that you need the psychological guidance of a professionally trained person.

By bringing your need out into the open, you have ignored the sense of "shame" that so many people attach to their inability to "solve" their own emotional problems.

It is virtually impossible for anyone to look at his own problems without bias and to understand their causes. Even well-meaning friends and close relatives cannot be without prejudice.

Your next important move is to consult your family physician and openly discuss with him your fears. If he feels there is a need for psychiatric examination or psychological study, he has at his disposal a list of the qualified psychiatrists in your immediate vicinity.

In many areas of the country, the general physician is the "psychological bulwark" of support. Many problems which seem insurmountable can be reduced to their proper size by talking them over with your physician.

I am beset by many fears about myself and my family. There are some days when I am actually afraid to leave the security of my house. How can I go about finding a competent psychiatrist so that I can once again function as a total wife and mother?

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Professional stock traders can come down with war jitters faster than most folks can catch the common cold. Rumors, or just uncertainty about what friend or foe may have in mind, can bring on a tumble in the stock market, and usually a simultaneous rise in some commodity prices.

After a long climb to record highs, stock prices have been particularly vulnerable of late. Traders also are nervous about what will happen to the overseas expansion of U.S. corporations and to the profitable loans by U.S. banks to foreigners, now that President Johnson wants these curtailed voluntarily—or else.

Why should stock traders fear the effect of war on stock prices, when the public often thinks of a war effort as leading to frenzied industrial activity?

The answer is that the stock market is the auction place for the shares of thousands of corporations—and a majority of these would be hurt, at least at first, by any outbreak of war involving the United States.

War disrupts the profitable activity of the consumer goods businesses—and these are the majority. It takes time to switch to production of goods wanted by the military. During that time the government usually clamps on wage and price controls, and stiff taxes on any increased profits.

The recent bombing of North Viet Nam military bases by U.S. and South Viet Nam planes set off a two-day drop of 19 points in the closely watched Dow-Jones index of 30 industrial stocks. It was the sharpest drop since the 27 minutes the New York Stock Exchange stayed open after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, when the index fell 21 points.

The previous bombing of North Viet Nam, called the Gulf of Tonkin incident, caused a 7.58 drop in index. Nikita Khrushchev's ouster, because it spelled international uncertainty, sparked a 6.74 decline.

As war rumors fade, the market usually rights itself fairly fast. An example is the Cuba missile scare. The market had the war jitters, but when Russia backed down, the market rallied sharply and started to new heights. Earlier war scares, such as the Berlin airlift and the confrontation with Red China over Matsu and Quemoy in the Formosa Strait, had similar histories.

Some stocks always buck the trend in a war scare, usually, of those firms that traders figure are likely to get increased defense orders. On the day of the biggest recent drop, Feb. 11, 39 stocks made 1964-65 new highs.

Commodities often rise, some because they are the raw materials for military goods, some because they are imported and trade routes may be cut, some because they might be rationed in wartime.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — YU 3-5731

Mrs. Marion Wells, executive director of the Ohio Mental Health Assn., was the guest speaker at the February meeting of the Ashville Women's Civic Club. The meeting was held in the First English Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Wells told the group that mental illness is still the nation's number one problem. She also pointed out that it affects each and every one of us, our families and our community. The Ohio Mental Health Assn. continues to assist in the organization and development of county mental health associations. An on-going positive mental health program is assured through citizen involvement in these local community organizations.

William Halley, editor of OMHA News and of the Public Relations Department, was present and distributed literature to the Club members which was prepared by OMHA.

The Ashville Neighborhood Girl Scout Thinking Day program will be presented Sunday at 2 p.m. Parents and friends are invited to attend.

A pageant entitled "Milestones" will be presented. This pageant is based on several episodes of the life of Juliette Gordon Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States. The program will be held in the Ashville Elementary School auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sabine, Mike and Steve, of Circleville were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Sabine, Susan and Jerry. The occasion marked the ninth birthday of Steven.

Mrs. James Irwin, president of the Women's Civic Club, has announced the Annual Style Show presented by the club will be held March 23 in the Teays Valley High School auditorium. Each spring club members present the show for the benefit of the scholarship fund which is given to a qualified Teays Valley senior. The general chairman of this year's show is Mrs. Vaughn Herdman.

The Past Chiefs Club of the Pythian Sisters will meet in the K of P Hall Feb. 25, at 7:30 p.m. Hostesses will be Mona Morrison, Jill Roese, Carolyn Peters, Eveline Zwyer and Clarice Farmer.

Girl Scout Cadette Troop No. 253 recently held a reorganization meeting. Officers elected were president, Bonnie Peters; vice president, Barbara Edwards; secretary, Beverly Moody; treasurer, Susan Sabine; and scribe, Vivian Sheets. Other members of the troop are Carol Sherman, Retha Gloyd, Linda Noggle, Jody Deal, Karen Lombardo, Brenda Bausum, and Debbie Flowers. Leaders are Mrs. Tom Purcell and Mrs. John Sabine. The girls recently participated in the Girl Scout Cookie Sale and are planning to take part in the Thinking Day Program on Feb. 21.

Howard Hosler presided during the Feb. 9 meeting of the local Kiwanis Club. A program entitled "They Shall Not Pass," and "Proper Methods of Handling Cash" was presented through the courtesy of the Ohio Bankers Assn. Very few people realize the magnitude of the bad check problem, and how to cope with it. The film was an excellent short course on the do's and don'ts of the subject.

A letter of appreciation was received from the First Baptist Church thanking the club for the donation of a piano for the new church.

Members of the Village Council and the Community Club have been invited to the next meeting. William Liebersbach, architect from Columbus, will present a program with slides, commensurate with plans for a new post office and municipal building for the Village of Ashville.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Roese, Katherine, Joan and Angie of South Bloomfield recently attended a family dinner honoring Mrs. Roese's father, Mr. Dominic Petrasio, on his 86th birthday. There were 27 members of the family present.

Mr. and Mrs. Jon Carnahan of Cambridge visited during the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young and Mr. and Mrs. Murice Carnahan, all of South Bloomfield.

Mrs. Reed Gloyd is now confined to her home due to an infected foot.

Mrs. Vaughn (Liz) Herdman underwent surgery last Friday at Doctor's Hospital in Columbus.

Here's a Look at Gov. Rhodes' $290 Million Bond Issue Plans

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Economic development fueled by a $290,000-million capital improvement bond issue would "more than compensate for the expenditures in terms of increased revenues," Gov. James A. Rhodes claims.

The administration-sponsored bond issue will be up for final decision by voters at the polls in the May 4 primary election. Ohio's General Assembly would have the final say on use of bond money but could be expected to give careful consideration to an administration plan for distributing funds.

The program contemplates using $145 million on facilities for higher education and for research and development. The balance would go for a wide range of uses such as:

$30 million for recreational development to attract a $100 million annual tourist trade.

$20 million to start development of a 240-mile Maumee pipeline to carry water from Lake Erie into 17 agricultural counties of north-western Ohio.

$12 million for a new historical archives building.

$25 million to help overcome classroom shortages in hard-pressed public school districts.

$5 million for a centralized health department laboratory.

$5 million for airports to stimulate economic growth.

$8 million for industrial schools to aid juvenile rehabilitation.

$10 million for sewer and water line extensions to help attract industry.

The breakdown for the $145 million slice of bond money would provide $37.5 million for Cleveland State University, $7.5 million for Toledo state medical college $1.5 million for a Franklin County technical school, $6 million each for Akron and Toledo technical schools, $10 million for a Youngstown Technical school, $3 million for state school expansion at Dayton, $2.5 million for Central State College, $17.5 million for Cincinnati Research Facilities, $7.5 for state university branches, $1.5 for agricultural extension facilities, $1 million for education television and $20 million for research centers at Bowling Green, Kent, Miami and Ohio University state schools.

Finance Director Richard Krabach says $12 million a year in general funds, previously paid to retire World War II bonus bonds, will be available to help pay interest costs and retire bonds for the $290 million issue. He says the balance would come from funds normally appropriated by the legislature for "additions and betterments" without new or increased taxes.

He estimates that net interest cost of 20-year bonds would be about 3 per cent; net cost of 30-year bonds 3.25 per cent.

Bond issue legislation adopted by the special session late last year, placing the issue up to voters, limits the issuance of bonds to an interest and retirement cost ceiling of $20 million a year. The monetary limit is carried in the wording prescribed for ballots which voters will mark to decide the proposal. A simple majority vote is required for approval as a part of the Ohio constitution.

The full faith and credit of the state would be pledged for redemption of bonds, payment of interest and other costs.

Excises and taxes "shall be levied and collected, in amounts sufficient to pay the principal of and the interest on such bonds or other obligations," as long as the bonds are outstanding, the legislature said.

The bond resolution requires, that all bonds must be sold by Dec. 31, 1970. It provides that all obligations must be repaid within 30 years of date of issue; in other words, all the bonds would have to be retired no later than the year 2,000.

Dear Abby: Boy Is Too Calm!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have three sons, 13, 12 and 10. I am worried about our eldest boy. He is about the same size as his 12-year-old brother. In fact, they are often taken for twins. The two younger boys gang up on the older one, who just stands there and lets them beat him up. He doesn't cry, or hit back or even ask for help. This doesn't seem normal to me. I know all brothers fight sometimes, but this is no fight. He won't even try to defend himself. He is a good student and a very quiet, obedient boy. Could something be wrong with him? I can't figure it out.

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Don't try to "figure it out." Ask your family doctor (or pediatrician) to recommend someone who specializes in child behavior problems, and take the boy there. Something IS wrong with a boy who will not defend himself, or retaliate when attacked. P. S. And while you are about it, find out what is making unprovoked aggressors out of the other boys.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is divorced, has two small children and receives no help from her former husband. (He has remarried and left the state.) I have been taking care of her children days while she works. She makes very good money, but I have a small pension and don't take anything for helping her. My daughter is very quarrelsome. She curses me and the children and treats me like a hired hand. She has been getting me so nervous and upset lately that I can't eat or sleep right, and my health is beginning to fail.

I have had a proposal of marriage from a very nice man I've known for two years, but he wants me to promise him that after we are married I will not take the responsibility of caring for my grandchildren any more. He says that is the only way we can be happy. I care a lot for this man, Abby, and want to marry him. But is it fair of him to make me choose between him and my own flesh and blood?

HARD TO DECIDE
DEAR HARD: Marry the man. If your daughter had to face the responsibility of rearing her own children, she would find a way. You have earned happiness. Help yourself.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the Pennsylvania minister prompts this. If he knows that those who go to heaven don't need prayers, and those who go to hell don't receive them, then he knows a lot more about inter-personality communication than most mortals. I assume that his routine funeral service would go something like this, "Well, what the heck, the guy is dead and can't hear us anyway, so let's all go home!"

Sincerely
SURGEON

Dinner Party Held by Group

The Lion's Auxiliary entertained their husbands with a covered dish dinner and a Valentine party, held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Thompson, 333 Woodlane Ave. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson assisted.

During the social hour the group played cards and prizes were won by Mrs. Samuel Cook, Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, Charles Curlett and Milton Griest.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howell were guests.

Others present were, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Altmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Nau, Mr. and Mrs. Griest, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woodward Jr., Gerald Crites, Mr. and Mrs. Curlett, Mr. and Mrs. Radcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Starkey and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson.

Girl Scout Meeting Scheduled Sunday

The Logan Elm Neighborhood Girl Scouts Thinking Day will be conducted 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the First EUB Church, E. Main St.

Additional Guests

Among the guests attending a miscellaneous bridal shower for Miss Clara Jean Neff were her mother, Mrs. Doris Neff, and Bonnie, Dixie and Becky Neff, sisters of the honored guest. The event was held Sunday in the home of Mrs. Harold Neff, Dunkel Road.

Style Show Plans Are Listed

Plans are being completed for the Ashville Womens Civic Club annual Style Show to be held Mar. 23 in Teays Valley High School.

The theme this year will be "Worlds Flair of Fashions." Guests will be Jeanne Cummins and Jerry Razor, TV personalities. Fashions from Sharff's Women's Apparel and The Deb Shop will be modeled.

Members of the committee in charge of the event are Mrs. Vaughn Herdman, chairman; Mrs. John Little, co-chairman; Mrs. Harry Margulis, Mrs. Robert Bausum, Mrs. Rolland Featheringham, Mrs. Wayne Bisker and Mrs. Gene Von Ins. Tickets may be purchased from members of the club or at the door. Proceeds are used for the Scholarship Fund for a deserving senior student at Teays Valley High School.

CCA Awards Gold Hats To Producers

Ten pulpwood producers in Southeastern Ohio are now wearing gold colored aluminum safety caps as a token of recognition for their 1964 production records.

The gold hats were awarded by the Timber Division of Container Corporation of America at its Circleville mill. The 10 producers are independent businessmen who buy standing timber from landowners, harvest it and sell pulpwood to the company for manufacture into paper.

Awarded the hats were: Gerald Noble, Route 4, Circleville; Harold Holbrook, Route 1, Laurelville; Hollie Hamilton, Route 2, Beaver; Cosmel Caudill, Dundas; Frank Tackett, Route 2, Bainbridge; Willard Coleman, Route 1, Hamden; Owen McNichols, Route 1, South Bloomingville; Elbert Stevens, Route 1, South Bloomingville; Otis Withrow, Carbondale; Robert Tripp, Zaleski; and Leonard Whitcraft, Route 1, Rockbridge.

These men have demonstrated their ability to produce pulpwood profitably through efficient use of labor and machinery, according to George Lucas, wood procurement forester for Container. The company provides these producers and landowners with a year-round market for pulpwood, he added.

Cincy IUE Unit under Trusteeship

CINCINNATI (AP)—The disension-racked International Union of Electrical Workers has placed its 1,500-member Cincinnati local under trusteeship, but some local officials deny this has to do with the power struggle inside the parent union.

The trusteeship over Local 771 was announced Wednesday by Paul Jennings, who was narrowly defeated in his bid to unseat James B. Carey as president of the 280,000 member union. Jennings denounced the action as a "political move of terror" by Carey.

Local 771 President Charles Dubos, a Jennings backer, could not be reached for comment. Two other officials said the trusteeship was set up after local members voted in December to ask the international to investigate charges against Dubos.

"This has nothing to do with Carey or Jennings," said Mrs. Pearl Young, the local's recording secretary. "This is strictly a local matter."

Mrs. Frankie Cooper, financial secretary, said Local 771 voted three to one in favor of Carey.

U.S. Trade Overtures To Soviet Pondered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The time may be right for U.S. trade overtures to the Soviet Union because of failures in Soviet economic policy, according to a study sponsored by the Committee for Economic Development.

In order to remain leader of the world's Communist bloc, the study said, the Soviet Union must acquire technology which is available only in the United States.

The study said the Soviet Union will not be able to surpass American output by 1970 — "or for a very long time after."

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS egg production set a record for January.

Potato prices got another downward push in the wholesale markets this week. A wide variety of meat should be available at the nation's food markets this weekend. On the West Coast wholesale prices of choice steer beef ribs are 1 to 2 cents a pound lower. Some pork cuts are higher, though.

Traders said the recent high prices and lagging sales in food markets were major factors in the tumbling prices of potatoes for delivery several months from now.

At the vegetable counters there reportedly are especially good supplies — for winter — of celery, green and dry onions and tomatoes. Grapefruit and apples are in good supply, also.

In the northeast turkeys and smoked hams may be featured in many markets. Spinach appears to be one of the better buys among the important vegetables.

Eggs prices are still about 12 cents a dozen cheaper than this time a year ago. The Agriculture Department reported that

NEW YORK (AP) — Lesley Ann Warren is the Cinderella-girl of "Cinderella" itself, a really unknown young dancer-singer who almost a year ago was chosen by Richard Rodgers to play the title role in the new, rewritten production of the old fairy tale.

It will be seen on CBS next Monday night.

In one way, Lesley Ann's recent history has been more that of "The Sleeping Princess" than "Cinderella." Rodgers' 90-minute musical was taped way back last October. Since then the young New Yorker has been patiently awaiting discovery — by playing in the national company of "110 in the Shade."

In fact, on the night television audiences will be seeing the young woman for the first time, she will playing her featured part in a Toronto theatre, presumably with her fingers crossed.

The slender, graceful performer was auditioned by Rodgers twice. The first time she tried to sing "My Funny Valentine," but was so tense that the gentle Rodgers suggested she read lines instead. Called back, she felt more secure and, out of all the hundreds of applicants was chosen.

"Cinderella" was originally produced and broadcast several years ago for CBS and for a time held the all-time record for the estimated size of its audience. But Rodgers was not happy with his work, and changed it from broad farce to the delicate mood of a classic fairy tale.

The 90-minute special will include plenty of Rodgers music, including one song written for "South Pacific" but cut out

Recognition for Inventors Is Sought

NEW YORK (AP) — Inventor Theodore A. Rich, who has 97 patents, says it's time that invention was regarded as a profession instead of a joke.

"People think of an inventor as a kind of nut who sits in an attic dreaming up gadgets," Rich says. "A professional inventor doesn't even rate a title as such in industry."

Rich, a senior engineer at the General Electric Co. advanced technology laboratories at Schenectady, N.Y., is one of the most prolific inventors in the company's history.

In addition to patents already granted, he has about 12 more pending. Now 59, Rich has averaged more than two patentable inventions a year since he was a $12.50-a-week technician at GE's Lynn, Mass., laboratory in 1926.

His inventions have ranged from a World War II submarine detector to a device for keeping electric clocks on time. Most have been complex measuring devices for gauging radiation, electric current and the size and electrical charge of air particles. His work with air particles has gained him wide recognition in atmospheric physics.

Rich said in an interview that he feels industry should encourage development of more idea men like himself — researchers who are essentially inventors rather than technical experts. While invention in industry often comes under the broad heading of research and development, he feels there is too much emphasis on analysis of facts, not enough on putting facts together.

"In a company like ours," Rich says, "about one-third of our products weren't even thought of 15 years ago. Now if that much of our business comes from inventors why shouldn't invention be regarded as a profession?"

Invention, he feels, is more imagination than brains. "We're living in an age of the expert and the specialist who thinks he has to be right every time he opens his mouth," the inventor says. "To invent, you have to take a chance on being wrong."

Rich estimates that perhaps one of every 13 of his ideas have produced a patentable invention. So important have his ideas been that in 1960 the Institute of Electronic and Electrical Engineers presented him its Leeds Award for outstanding creative work in electrical measurement. His own company has three times given him its highest technical recognition, the Charles A. Coffin award.

Wesleyan Trustees Open Drive for Fund

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Wesleyan University trustees have provided the initial "thrust" to a fund campaign by pledging $800,000 to the fund.

John Eckler of Columbus, chairman of the board, announced Wednesday the trustees' contribution. Ohio Wesleyan is campaigning to raise $3 million in the next two years and $7 million with five years for capital improvements and endowment. In another development, the university announced it is raising tuition by $150 to a total cost of $1500 for tuition and fees for the 1965-66 academic year.

Mandatory School Bus Legislation Is Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sponsors of one controversial school bus bill in the General Assembly appear willing to abandon the measure in favor of another one up for introduction in the Ohio House today.

They testified Wednesday night at the first legislative hearing on embattled proposals calling on school boards to extend bus transportation to private and parochial pupils.

Democratic Reps. Joseph J. Horvath, Anthony J. Russo, and James Celebrezze, all of Cleveland, told the House Education Committee headed by Rep. B. A. Broughton, R-Geauga, that "inadvertent" wording in their measure made it contradictory.

Horvath said it was the intent of the sponsors to offer a bill making it permissive on the part of school boards to provide such service. But he added that, as written by the Legislative Service Commission, the language at one point would make it permissive and at another point would make it mandatory.

A surprisingly small crowd of only about 100 persons showed up for the proceedings which had been expected to attract at least twice that many. Members of both houses have been flooded with mail on the proposed legislation, most of it from opposing factions.

Only proponents are heard at initial hearings on bills.

Horvath, Russo, and Celebrezze all argued strongly for the proposed legislation in principal and said that while they intended to offer a permissive bill they now favor one that is mandatory.

Celebrezze said he favors the "counter part of Senate Bill 10 because it is better written." That measure is identical to one now sidetracked in the Senate by virtue of House-Senate agreement.

Senate Bill 10 is the mandatory measure which has the backing of the Council for Educational Freedom, the organization spearheading the drive for school bus legislation. Broughton indicated it may be called up for a hearing on March 3 when the committee is scheduled to give the second hearing to the bill aired Wednesday night.

Also pending in the committee is a permissive measure by Rep. Raymond E. Hildebrand, R-Lucas. Some rural members of the House, known to oppose mandatory legislation, view Hildebrand's bill as the one with the best chance to survive a floor vote. Legislators from rural areas comprise a major portion of the House membership.

Horvath, Russo, and Celebrezze all said they regarded "the safety of the children" as the principal issue involved. They also expressed a belief that such legislation would be constitutional and would not interfere with separation of state and church.

Committee members had a barrage of questions for each sponsor, most of them dealing with language in the bill. Celebrezze finally suggested that the measure be sent to a subcommittee "to await the arrival of other bills on the subject."

Two Democrats and one Republican are introducing in the House today a bill identical to the mandatory measure pending in the Senate.

Reps. Ralph J. Kohnen Jr., R-Hamilton; Harold Romer, D-Mercer, and Raymond E. Woodard, D-Summit, are its sponsors.

Meanwhile, the Senate, off to a cumbersome start because of organizational problems stemming from its 16-16 split finally has reached the stage for passage of bills.

Reported out of committee and recommended for passage Wednesday were two measures, including one that would require safety belts in cars as of Jan. 1, 1966. The upper chamber will vote on the measure after the required third reading.

Five bills already have been passed by the House and sent to the Senate but three of them are minor. The other two would permit school boards to operate on trimester or four quarter systems and require 120 days between conviction on a murder charge and execution.

The state would have to help counties pay the cost of elections involving statewide candidates and issues under one of 24 new bills introduced in the House Wednesday.

The proposal was offered by four small county legislators who estimated such a law would have saved counties about $5 million in the presidential election last year. Sponsors are Reps. Joseph Hiestand, R-Highland; Harry L. Armstrong, R-Hocking; Lloyd G. Kerns, R-Union, and F. K. Cassel, R-Wyandot.

In the upper chamber, Sens. Charles H. Jones, R-Hamilton and Edmund A. Sargus, D-Belmont, offered companion measures to crack down on telephone service cheaters.

Their bills would make it illegal to use devices to cheat automatic billing equipment and to give false names, credit card numbers, or other untrue information to operators.

County Board Commended For Efficient Administration

Officials of the Pickaway County Board of Education today were commended by State Auditor Chester W. Goble for "a very efficient administration" of fiscal operations for a period ending Aug. 31, 1964.

In a letter addressed to Wendell Evans, New Holland, president of the County Board, Goble said he had read a state examiner's report relating to the financial operations "and I want to congratulate you and your associates for a very efficient administration."

Continuing, the state's chief fiscal officer said, in part:

"It is most gratifying to know that we have in charge of our school administrations such devoted public servants who are keenly interested in their educational systems."

"The taxpayers must certainly know they are getting the most out of their tax dollars spent in the field of education. Again, my congratulations," Goble concluded.

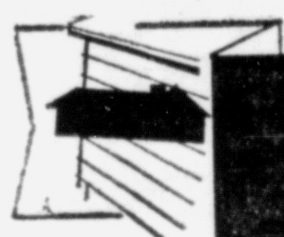

When proper records are maintained and all statutory requirements are met, there is a reduction in time required to make such examinations, it was pointed out. "The resultant savings to the school district which is charged with the cost of the audit."

Pickaway County Superintendent of Schools George D. McDowell is clerk of the County Board of Education. The vice president is Paul Cromley, Route 1, Ashville.

Other members are Ralph Betz, Route 1, Stoutsville; C. E. Dick, Mt. Sterling; and Judson Beougher, Route 1, Laurelville.

Ohio Rainfall in Next Few Weeks Vital

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—The amount of rainfall in the next few weeks will decide the fate of this year's Ohio crops, a state agronomist has noted.

Dr. B. L. Schmidt, agronomist at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station here, said the amount of precipitation from now through April can have a big influence on crop growth and yields next summer.

This period, he said, is the critical time for building up water stores in the soil. He explained that while February normally has the lowest average rainfall of any month, negligible plant use of water and lower temperatures allow soil moisture supplies to recharge. As the soil becomes saturated, more water is available for percolation into the ground water supplies which are recharged also during these months, he said. "Not all of the precipitation during this time is useful," Dr. Schmidt pointed out, "since much is lost as runoff. And frozen soil adds to this problem. Rains which come in the late winter and early spring often fall for long durations over large areas. This saturates the soil surface and lowers the water intake rate."

State Official Calls NW Ohio Pipeline 'Must'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The head of the State Development growth in northwestern Ohio hinges on construction of the Lake Erie water pipeline.

"We are going to have a pipeline," Director Fred P. Neuen-schwander flatly told The As-sociated Press Wednesday.

"There are numerous prob-lems but the area has to have a pipeline eventually."

The department's proposed 241-mile Maumee River Basin-Lake Erie pipeline came under attack last Friday from officials in Lima and Findlay.

Cost of delivered raw water is the key to the problem.

Findlay Mayor John Sussler claims the pipeline is "econom-ically unfeasible."

Lima Utilities Director Sharon Bresler contends participation in the project would be "an in-tolerable financial burden."

The proposed $87.5 million pipeline would serve 21 munic-ipalities in a 14-county area, with Lima and Findlay consuming about 60 per cent of all water sent through the facility.

"Our main goal is the devel-opment of the northwest Ohio area. And a prime factor in that development is the availability of water," Neuenchwander said.

A department study estimates communities would pay 28.7 cents per thousand gallons of water. This figure is based on a state allocation of $20 million to help build the pipeline. That money would become available if a $200 million bond issue, on the May primary is approved by Ohioans.

Several northwestern Ohio area legislative representatives including State Sen. Tennyson Guyer of Findlay, are clamoring for more state aid.

Guyer suggests increasing state assistance to $40 or even $60 million in an effort to cut costs.

Neuenchwander said a $40 million allocation would cut the price of water to 17.5 cents per thousand gallons.

He admits that if Lima or Findlay or both drop out of the plan, the rate structure would be affected.

"We would have to go ahead and draw up new plans," he said.

Neuenchwander added that he plans to meet with mayors or their representatives some-time in the next two weeks in an effort to get the proposal off the ground.

He indicated that the depart-ment is studying ways to secure more revenue for the pipeline.

"We are trying to find sources for federal funds that might be available but thus far have been unsuccessful. We have talked to private water compa-nies about their interest in build-ing the pipeline. But I doubt if they could do it any cheaper."

Neuenchwander contends that all of the communities in the Basin face a critical water situation in the near future. . . "some of them right now."

The director denied reports that participating communities would have to abandon other water sources in favor of pipe-line use, exclusively.

Neuenchwander is confident that once the communities agree to the pipeline a feasibility study could be accomplished within six months.

Eventually a pipeline author-ity would be named to supervise the line's operation and rate structures.

"It is possible the pipeline could be built and deliver wa-ter within 2½ years but a more accurate estimate would be five years," he said.

Most municipalities involved in the plan have accepted it fa-vorably. The pipeline would serve Delphos, St. Marys, Wap-akoneta, Defiance, Archbold, Wauseon, Fostoria, Deshler, Na-poleon, Waterville, Celina, Col-umbus Grove, Leipsic, Ottawa Bryan, Stryker, Bowling Green, North Baltimore and Van Wert.

Unemployment Index Explained

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Brown has a job with the Nuts & Bolts Co. but didn't work last week because of a strike at the plant. Question: Is he employed or unemployed?

He's employed, according to the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

But suppose, while on strike, Brown goes over to the Screw Washer Factory to apply for a job there?

In that case, he will show up on the government's jobless rolls along with some four mil-lion other Americans.

The names of Bob Brown, the Nuts & Bolts Co. and the Screw Washer Factory are mythical of course, but the bureau uses them to illustrate how it arrives at one of the nation's most im-portant economic yardsticks every month.

During one week in every month, some 35,000 families in a carefully chosen cross-section are interviewed by a special group of Census Bureau work-ers and the results multiplied to get the national unemployment rate.

But it's not so simple as just knocking on the door and asking who in the family is employed or out of work.

The interviewer does not make the decision. It's all done by electronic computer back at the Census Bureau in Washing-ton.

The computer is programmed to decide who is listed as em-ployed, unemployed or not in the labor force.

People with regular jobs who were absent from work during the survey week because of ill-ness, bad weather, strikes or various personal reasons are listed as employed.

Except, as in Bob Brown's case, a striker who goes looking for another job is counted as unemployed. If he simply went fishing and waited for the strike to end, he would be counted as employed.

Generally, anyone without a job who looks for work is listed on the jobless rolls.

But then there's the case of a coal miner thrown out of work when the mine was closed per-manently.

He gives up looking for work as futile. Even so, the bureau lists him as unemployed even though he didn't actively seek a job during the survey week.

What about Pete, 15, who has no paying job, but puts in about 20 hours a week on chores around his father's farm? He is considered employed as an un-paid family worker.

So is Betty Green, who helps out in her husband's grocery store several days a week.

The bureau counts all persons over 14 years of age who are not in school, military service or in an institution.

The bureau figures its sample survey of 35,000 households, multiplied to get the nation's total unemployment figure, is within 200,000 of the figure a total census would show.

To guard against errors, one-fourth of the 35,000 sample households are replaced every month so that no family is in-terviewed more than four months in a row.

The 35,000 survey households are located all over the nation, designed to reflect urban and rural areas, different types of industry and farming opera-tions, and the major geographic divisions of the country in the same proportion as the nation as a whole, the bureau said.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presi-dents and former presidents get along — sometimes. They visit each other — sometimes. But there is no tradition of friend-liness between them and some-times there is little or no friend-liness.

When President Johnson Wednesday had former Presi-dent Dwight D. Eisenhower over to the White House to get his views on Viet Nam, it may have seemed normal because President John F. Kennedy had done the same sort of thing.

But anyone who thinks it's normal has a short memory.

There was a bitter gulf be-tween Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Herbert Hoover. Through the 12 years of Roose-velt's presidency Hoover never visited the White House and was never asked to.

Within a couple of months af-ter succeeding Roosevelt in 1945, President Harry S. Truman asked Hoover to visit him to discuss the world's food prob-lems and the two men became good friends.

But then the gap appeared again when Eisenhower became president, succeeding Truman in 1953. The long coolness be-tween these two men ended only when Eisenhower visited Tru-man at his library in 1961.

It was the first time either had called on the other since Eisenhower's inauguration eight years before.

The presidential race between Roosevelt and Hoover in 1932, wasn't pleasant and until World War II Hoover had been a con-stant critic of his successor.

He blamed Roosevelt for lack of cooperation just before Roo-sevelt took the oath of office in 1933. Hoover had invited Roo-sevelt to the White House to dis-

"Ghosts" of Civil War are brought back by letters.

History Enriched By Bank Guard

By Central Press Association

A new hobby that can open the door to richly satisfying hours for anyone from 7 to 70 has been discovered by Benjamin Grossman, 59, messenger-guard for a New York bank.

"It has elements of detection, suspense, adventure, research—and, if you're lucky," Grossman adds, "you'll be making a contribution to American history."

This is a do-it-yourself hobby that anyone with a spirit of adventure can play.

A stroll on Ann Street in New York City one afternoon found Ben Grossman in a small shop dealing in stamps and old letters. On an impulse, he bought four letters written by Civil War soldiers.

Grossman's curiosity was aroused. He spent a good deal of time at the public library and book stores, delving into Civil War history, learning about regiments to which "his soldiers" belonged. But then he found himself up a blind alley; how could he obtain further information on these particular men?

A book store dealer supplied an answer. If the soldier's name, rank and regiment were available, the National Archives in Washington could send him available statistical information. Along with forms to be filled out came a list of professional researchers who, for a nominal fee, would use records accessible to them and answer any questions one might care to ask.

By this time Grossman had become particularly intrigued by one of the letters written on June 7, 1862, by George W. Daub, a member of Company F, 51st Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. Grossman duly received Daub's dossier containing his muster roll - call record, marriage certificate, court martial record and a 55th Congressional Report.

A fascinating story slowly came to light. Daub, it turned out, was not one but TWO men! He left his original regiment after serving three years; at the end, there had been some trouble as he offered (and was caught) a fake certificate at what is today known as the PX. Daub was imprisoned for six months, and upon his release he joined the 193rd New York Regiment under the alias of Charles de Eppenall, in which he saw action in the Shenandoah Valley. In 1866, at war's end, George was honorably discharged, and he turned home to Norristown, Pa.

There Daub renewed the acquaintance of his old buddy, Nathan Foreman, and his wife, Sarah. Soon Foreman again yearned for Army life. Shortly after he enlisted in the regular Army cavalry, he was among troops ambushed and killed by the warlike Sioux Indians.

Six months later, Foreman's widow, Sarah, and George Daub were wed. Twenty-seven years afterward, upon Daub's death, Sarah learned of his double-dealing when she applied for and was denied a pension. Some how her plea was eventually recognized and the 55th Congress awarded her $12 monthly. Sarah died in 1915.

Anyone can contribute to the annals of history by following these steps outlined by Grossman:

Stamp dealers and stamp auctions provide excellent hunting ground for authentic Civil War letters.

After obtaining a promising letter, write to the General Services Administration, National Archives and Records Service, Washington 25, D. C., and you'll receive the necessary source blanks to fill out and a list of researchers.

Select a searcher - his services should be inexpensive; this will enable you to obtain specific and detailed information on "your soldier."

Your neighborhood library will be a treasure house where in you will be able to explore in detail the battles in which your soldier participated.

West Virginia Governor Advised That 'Ohio Is After Our River'

(Note: The Ohio House of Representatives has asked Congress to fix the center of the Ohio River as the boundary between the state of Ohio and the states of West Virginia and Kentucky. The following Associated Press story sets out some of the present problems and a possible solution, at least as far as West Virginia is concerned. Kentucky may wish to follow suit.)

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
FROM: George Hanna, Associated Press Writer, Huntington, W. Va.

TO: Gov. Hulett Smith, Statehouse, Charleston, W. Va.
Dear Governor:

In the press of business, you may not have noticed that Ohio is after our river.

The Ohio House had adopted a resolution urging Congress to fix the center of the Ohio River as the boundary between Ohio and the states of Kentucky and West Virginia. As you know, the present boundary is the low water mark on the Ohio side of the river.

The resolution notes that the present boundary location "is a constant source of irritation to the citizens of the State of Ohio and a never-ending problem to the state in administering the fishing and boating laws and regulations."

What they're talking about is the regulation saying that an Ohioan with an Ohio fishing license can stand on the bank of the river on the Ohio side and fish, but if he gets into a boat and goes out into our river, he must have a West Virginia license.

There is also the matter of boating licenses. Ohioans need a West Virginia license if their boat is tied up regularly on our river. If they dock it on a tributary within the state of Ohio they don't need a West Virginia license. I'm told this is the doctrine of licensing in the principal state of use.

From the Pennsylvania border to the Indiana border, the river stretches 451.4 miles. Of this, 277 miles makes the Ohio-West Virginia border, and 174.4 miles make the Ohio-Kentucky border.

Lets's just assume that our river averages a quarter of a mile—or 1,320 feet—in width for the 277 miles. Some fast figuring (working papers supplied on request) shows that if the state of Ohio took half of our river, it would put 34.5 square miles of West Virginia in Ohio.

The figure would be somewhat less for Kentucky.

It's my opinion that you should try to keep Congress out of this and perhaps make a deal.

I suggest that you give them half of our river in return for:

cinnati that would include the zoo.

A few square miles of Cincinnatus that include the football stadium Marshall will need if anyone ever persuades West Virginia to pay Marshall.

A few square miles of Akron that would include some industry West Virginia needs and restore West Virginia citizenship to many residents of Akron.

If they offer the Cleveland Indians, don't accept. We've got our own problems. Take the Browns if you can get them, though.

You probably have some ideas of your own about what Ohio has that West Virginia needs, like a few miles of four-lane highway.

I suggest you start negotiations by holding out for the entire 34.5 square miles. Bargain, but don't take less than 20 square miles.

Regards.

Strip Mine Hearing Gets First Airing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The opening shots in an expected battle over strip mining legislation have been fired in the Ohio Senate.

A Wilmet woman, Mrs. Alice Grossniklaus, led a delegation to the initial hearing Wednesday on Senate Bill 1 before the Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee.

She said she represented hundreds in Wayne, Holmes, Huron, Stark, Coshocton and Tuscarawas counties who are concerned over having laws to force strip mining firms to return the land in usable shape.

The bill up for consideration would up the bond strip miners must post from $20 to $500 an acre, sets up pollution safeguards for streams and rivers and limits cliff slopes.

The bill is sponsored by Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-Clermont and co-sponsored by Sens. Oliver Ocasek, Summit; Robin T. Turner, R-Seneca and Ed Garrigan, R-Summit.

Mid-Am Cage Race Is Scrambled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for the title in the Mid-American basketball conference is going down to the wire—and, maybe, even farther.

While it's still too early to talk about a playoff, Ohio University's Bobcats set the stage for one Wednesday as they stopped league-leading Miami of Oxford 65-55.

The powerful Redskins, unbeaten previously in conference competition, could have wrapped up the title by downing the Bobcats. But they were ice cold from the field and flat-footed under the backboards.

Ohio, playing a steady, deliberate game, jumped to an early lead, lost it three times and then went ahead 29-25 at halftime and held on in the second period. The win was a must for Ohio to stay in title contention.

Ohio coach Jim Snyder summed it up: "We didn't shake when they came back, just did the job we had to do. I never wanted one more. Miami wasn't hot. They're still a good ball club."

Miami is now 10-1 and has single game left, Feb. 27 with Toledo, Ohio, 9-1, must face Kent State the same date and Toledo on March 6.

If Miami wins and Ohio wins both, it would be a deadlock. If either slips and the other doesn't, that will decide the title. The winner also goes into the NCAA basketball playoffs.

Improving Toledo, meanwhile honed up for its spoiler role by dominating both the backboards and Kent State for a 80-69 Mid-American win. The victory entrenched the Rockets in third place. Kent State could have taken over third with a triumph, but now has a 4-6 record with two games left. Toledo has five loop contests remaining.

Bowling Green, another MAC member, took its lumps from Notre Dame 88-72. The Irish used superior height to beat Bowling Green on BG's home court.

In Ohio Conference play, Mt. Union walked over Heidelberg 107-78, threatening to move the Student Princes back into the loop cellar again.

In other games, Ashland beat a fighting Bluffton crew 67-72 for a Mid-Ohio Conference win, John Carroll edged out Case in a President's Conference overtime game 79-76, Findlay squeezed by Ohio Northern 70-68, Youngstown dropped Windsor of Ontario 86-77, Alliance of Pennsylvania beat Malone 93-76 and St. Francis of Indiana escaped with a 86-84 win over Defiance.

OU May Get Second Chance At NCAA Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio University may get a chance to win the national collegiate basketball championship this year after all.

The Bobcats from the Mid-American Conference were beaten by Michigan in last year's Mid-East regionals final at Minneapolis after upsetting Louisville and Kentucky, but weren't favored to make the NCAA championship tournament this season.

They climbed back into contention Wednesday night by defeating the favored Miami of Ohio 65-55. It was the first league defeat for the Redskins and set up a possible playoff for the Mid-American championship and the NCAA berth since both figure to end their MAC campaign tied at 11-1.

"I never wanted to win one more," said Jim Snyder, coach of Ohio University, after the game at Athens, Ohio. Don Hilt led the Bobcats with 16 points. Jeff Gehring and Charley Coles each got 14 for the Redskins.

Duke's sixth-ranked Blue Devils, the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to play, won their ninth straight with an easy 87-59 conquest of South Carolina at Columbia, S.C.

North Carolina scored a 69-68 road victory over N.C. State and Maryland, playing at home, beat Virginia 52-47 in other Atlantic Coast Conference games.

St. Louis took over second place in the Missouri Valley Conference by downing Louisville on the road 70-63 behind Garry Garrison's 16 points. The defeat dropped Louisville to third.

Bill Radcliffe tossed in 41 points to lead Navy over Hofstra 70-62 at Annapolis. Army downed Massachusetts 82-67 at West Point and Gonzaga topped Idaho 67-61 for a home-court triumph in other games.

CHS Tigers Can 'Win It All' In SCO Tilt at Greenfield

The Circleville High School basketball team Friday will travel to Greenfield McClain where a supreme effort will be made to win sole possession of the South Central Ohio League cage crown.

The hardword title has been particularly elusive for Red and Black cage teams during the years Circleville has been a member of the South Central Ohio League.

During the 1959-60 season the Tiger team won the SCO League outright. In the 1956-57 campaign they shared it with Wilmington, Washington C.H. and Hillsboro.

Again in 1959-60 they shared the title. This time with Wilmington, Washington C.H. and Greenfield.

OF THE current league members, Greenfield owns the most outright basketball crowns with nine unshared titles. The McClain Tigers have also shared the crown on three occasions with other teams.

Wilmington comes next with eight outright titles and four co-titles. Washington C. H. and Hillsboro have both won three crowns and shared the championship with other schools three times.

Miami Trace, currently the league's youngest member, has been able to gain only a share of the crown one time.

But Greenfield McClain is not the cage power it once was in league circles.

The Tigers from the eastern Highland County community have won only two games this season while dropping seven in league play.

But McClain is no pushover in its own gym, the site of tomorrow's game.

THE TWO wins McClain owns have come on their home floor — at one time considered among the finest in the SCO. But now it's a hardwood opposing teams dread to visit.

Against two of the top teams in the league — Miami Trace and Wilmington — Greenfield lost by a scant two points on the McClain floor.

Trace was lucky to come away with a 48-46 victory. Wilmington slipped past the Purple and Gold Tigers with a 56-54 win.

Circleville's 7-2 mark is currently the best in the league. The burden of winning it all in the SCO will be directly on the shoulders of Don Neff's cagers.

Wilmington and Miami Trace are close on the heels of Circleville with identical 6-3 records. Should these two teams win their respective games this weekend and should Circleville lose, the title will end in a three-way deadlock.

However, Trace will have its hands full at Washington C. H. tomorrow. Wilmington should have little trouble with visiting Hillsboro.

... CIRCLEVILLE has three cagers listed in the top 10 scorers of the South Central Ohio League. They are John Maxwell, second with 169 points; John Thomas, fourth with 159 and Chet Jery, tenth with 130.

For Greenfield, only Ralph Nooks with 138 points has broken into the elite top 10 scoring circle. He is listed seventh.

The leading scorer in the league is Miami Trace's Dan Huffman who has produced 171 points.

Strip Mining, Gun Regulations Hotly Debated

By KEN MCCREARY For The Associated Press

A poll to find "the most talked-about topic in outdoor Ohio," probably would show the top two finishers to be regulation of strip mining and restrictive gun legislation.

Each is highly controversial and subject to a wide spectrum of highly inflamed opinion.

The Ohio Legislature is considering one bill which would impose stiff reclamation regulations on strip miners and at least two other measures are in the preparation stage.

Many conservationists and outdoor-minded Ohioans feel mining operators fail to reclaim the lands they rip open to suitable beauty and usefulness after mining is finished.

On the other hand, many feel that it's just a question of what is the best way to reclaim the thousands of mined acres to attain maximum results.

The complex strip mining bill will come under scrutiny this week-end at the 57th annual Convention of the League of Ohio Sportsmen in Columbus. The league, which represents hundreds of sportsmen's clubs across Ohio, has devoted all of Friday to discussions, panels and presentations dealing with the strip mine dispute.

Expert speakers will include Julian Feiss, assistant secretary for minerals, U.S. Department of the Interior, who will discuss the economic importance of strip mining; Dr. Charles V. Riley, chairman of biology, Kent State University, whose topic is "Research Made on Open Cut Mines," and representatives of the Ohio Reclamation Association who will outline the mine operators' case.

A less controversial highlight of the gathering will be initiation Saturday of almost 100 boys and girls into the "Coonskin Cap Brigade," newly formed youth group founded by the league to foster an appreciation of conservation in general and hunting and gun handling in particular.

Also present at the convention will be a man with some very definite views on restrictive gun laws—Marvin D. Driver, field representative for the National Rifle Association. Last weekend, at the Outdoor Writers of Ohio convention in Columbus, Driver said eight bills pending before Congress would affect the sale. Most are patterned after one authored by Sen. Thomas Dodd of Connecticut.

Dodd's bill would require anyone wishing to buy a weapon via mail to enclose an affidavit stating his signed identity is true, he is over 18, he's never been convicted of a crime, and the possession of the gun will not be a law violation. A copy of that statement would be forwarded to local law agencies. Dodd feels his bill will not "put an end to all crimes of violence but it will be a step forward."

The National Rifle Association, according to Driver, "supports legislation which will keep firearms out of the hands of criminals, mental incompetents, and such persons as Lee Oswald." But he feels that such a law will not do the job. Oswald accused assassin of President Kennedy, could have gotten a gun despite any law, he said.

Driver feels the answer might be "legislation calling for severe mandatory punishment of persons convicted of a crime of violence involving the misuse of a firearm or any other weapon." There is no restrictive gun legislation before the Ohio General Assembly, and, according to veteran lawmakers, it appears that if such a measure is introduced this session it would stand little chance of passage.

A bill dealing with licensing of some guns, died in the Election and Federal Relations Committee, without even a hearing, in the last session.

'Sixth' Men Are Stars in NBA Jousts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nominations are open for the best sixth man in the National Basketball Association, and for starters how about Baltimore's Walt Bellamy and Boston's John Havlicek.

Normally a starter, Bellamy came off the bench and sparked the Bullet's 125-114 victory over Cincinnati Wednesday night. Havlicek, Boston's super-sub, scored 31 as the Celtics rolled past St. Louis 121-114.

Los Angeles relied on those reliable starters, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, for its 118-98 romp over New York.

Bellamy, the 6-foot-11 center who has been a mainstay since coming into the league three years ago, failed to start for the first time in his career after absorbing public criticism for his recent play by Baltimore General Manager Paul Hoffmann.

Big Walt came off the bench at the start of the second period, scoring 24 points and grabbing 13 rebounds the rest of the way. Gus Johnson's 29 points led the Bullets, who jumped off to a 17-1 lead in the first five minutes.

Havlicek, who has replaced the retired Frank Ramsey as Boston's No. 1 reserve, scored 31 points, one less than Sam Jones, as the Celtics roared from behind against St. Louis.

Senate Probes Sale of Yankees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators take a long look today at the purchase of the New York Yankees by Columbia Broadcasting System and what it may mean to the future of baseball and other professional sports.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said in a prepared opening statement that the deal last year killed all chances for passage of legislation to exempt certain vital practices of professional sports from antitrust laws.

First witnesses before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, which Hart heads, were Yankee President Dan Topping, CBS president Frank Stanton, and two other top CBS executives.

2 Seattle College Cagers Tied to Bribery Charges

SEATTLE (AP) — Two Seattle University basketball stars and a Chicago tavern owner were arrested Wednesday night on bribery conspiracy charges involving a game with the University of Idaho.

Charlie Williams, captain of the Chieftains; a teammate, Peller Phillips, and Leo Casale, 24 of Chicago, were arrested in connection with the Jan. 22 game in Seattle. Casale was arrested in Chicago.

Seattle won the game 89-72. Williams and Phillips were arraigned Wednesday night, and U.S. Commissioner Walter Reeseburg Jr. released them on $1,000 bond each. The two Seattle players asked for a preliminary hearing, which Reeseburg set for 4:30 p.m. EST March 1.

Casale is to be arraigned today in Chicago. The Federal Bureau of Investigation said.

The charge against Casale and the two 21-year-old Seattle University seniors is "that they did conspire with each other to carry into effect a scheme or plan in commerce to influence a sporting contest by bribery." The FBI said the maximum

No Favorite Seen In Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—There wasn't a clear-cut favorite in the field as the Tucson Open Golf Tournament got under way today over the sprawling Tucson National course.

Although big names Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi were not entered, the classiest field in years was on hand.

It included four winter tour winners: Rod Funseth, victor in last week's Phoenix Open; Billy Casper, winner of the Bob Hope Desert Classic and this year's leading money winner; George Archer, victor in the San Francisco tourney; and Australian Bruce Crampton, the Bing Crosby champion.

Evansville Chalks Up 21st Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Evansville Aces are building a big pot that could include an unbeaten season plus their second straight year as kingpins of the small college basketball world.

Wednesday night's 109-88 victory over Valparaiso gave the Aces a 21-0 record with only three games remaining on their regular season schedule, against Kentucky Wesleyan, Indiana State and fourth-ranked Southern Illinois.

In the latest Associated Press poll of 16 regional experts, based on games through last Saturday, Evansville was named the top team on 14 ballots and collected 149 points. The leader won two games last week, against St. Joseph's, Ind., and Butler, the latter a major opponent.

Central State of Ohio remained in second place while High Point held the No. 3 position.

The Top Ten, with won-lost records and total points:

1. Evansville	20-0	149
2. Central St. O.	19-0	123
3. High Point	21-2	96
4. Southern Illinois	21-2	96

CHS Boosters To Purchase 10 Hurdles

The Circleville Athletic Booster Club agreed to purchase one flight of hurdles for the high school track team, it was reported today by head track coach Jim Lint.

Lint noted the 10 hurdles would cost the booster club $189.50.

According to Lint, some track hopefuls are taking advantage of the pleasant weather. Some have started working out for the coming season.

The first official call for track will be issued next week, he said.

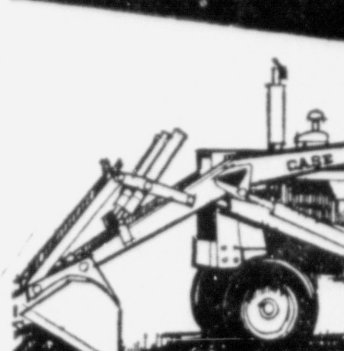

23 Redlegs Signed To 1965 Contracts

CINCINNATI (AP) — Five more Cincinnati Reds have signed their contracts for the 1965 baseball season, raising the total to 23.

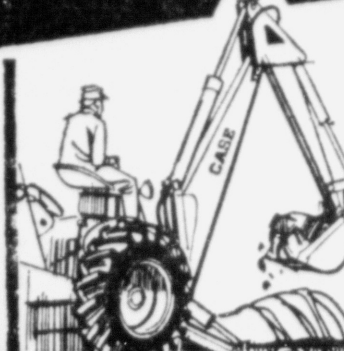

They are third baseman Steve Boros, catcher Jim Coker and three youngsters who spent 1964 with Reds' farm clubs—pitcher Teddy Davidson, first baseman Tony Perez and first baseman-outfielder Lee May.

Manager Johnny Keane of the Yankees would like to carry a third catcher this season behind Ellie Howard and John Blanchard. Jake Gibbs, Billy Madden and Eliseo Rodriguez will battle for the third spot.

Ohio's 888 Basketball Teams Ready To Hit Tournament Trail

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 888 high school basketball teams, made up of some 20,000 boys, head next week into the first phase of the long and tension-packed battle for the state championships.

For the first time in the annual cage carnival's 43-year history, the county tournaments for Class A schools have been eliminated. All, regardless of season records, go straight into sectional play.

This time it will be strictly a "lose and out" chase, for double-elimination events also have been discarded. New dividing lines in "boy attendance" have changed the picture, too.

Last year schools with fewer than 180 boys were in Class A, those above that figure in Class AA. This year the dividing line is 250, dropping many of the larger schools into the lower division.

In sectional play starting Feb. 26-27, a total of 413 Class AA schools will battle at 41 different sites. And in Class A the 475 aspirants will see action in 65 tournaments. The huge kick-off weekend will find a total of

Architecture Studied for Ashville PO

A Columbus architect was present at the Ashville Kiwanis meeting Tuesday to show styles of architecture which could be used for the proposed post office building in Ashville.

Construction of the new post office has been approved. An option on the Gregory property Main and Long Sts., has been signed over to postal authorities.

Also being considered by the Ashville Village Council is the construction of a municipal building in the same area.

The council reached a decision to readvertise for bids for the Jefferson Ave. curbs and gutters. Work on the area was originally planned last fall. But bids received were considered too high because of the necessary work and materials needed to prevent freezing.

Red Cross Volunteers Make Birthday Event Happy One

Valentine Day last Sunday meant something special for David Peterman, York St., and James Cameron, Gale's Nursing Home.

First of all, Mr. Peterman observed his 95th birthday and Mr. Cameron celebrated his 71st. Secondly, there were some good friends around to help make it a happy day for them.

Bound and determined that Valentine's Day would be a happy one for the two elderly gentlemen were several members of the local Red Cross Volunteers organization. They helped them celebrate with a birthday gathering that included cake, ice cream and candies.

Mr. Peterman and Cameron are long-time friends. The Volunteer ladies thought it only proper the two should be together on their birthdays.

THE VOLUNTEERS have taken additional interest in Mr. Peterman. They care for him when he is a patient at Berger Hospital and now furnish transportation for him for weekly visits to a local physician's office.

Providing kind attention to elderly folks — something that is much appreciated by the recipients is only one of many projects undertaken by the Red Cross Volunteers. Their programs in this field are many.

But their worthwhile projects often are curtailed in what amounts to an uphill struggle. As in the case for many other volunteer organizations, their objectives are limited due to lack of membership.

Willing personnel is the secret of the success they do attain. The present membership currently has a favorite saying. It is: "You, too, can become a special friend of a lonely person — join us."

The Red Cross Volunteers function as a twin-organization. One group is composed of adult women. The other is a group of teen-agers popularly known as the Volunteers.

Art League Plans Spring Show Here

The Circleville Art League met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Betty Griffith, 270 Sunset Drive, and preliminary plans were made for the annual Spring Show and Exhibit.

J.D. Reichelderfer was named chairman of the show. The group decided that the exhibit should be held May 2.

During the program, Mrs. Noreen Smith instructed the group in the technique of abstract watercolor. Examples of the technique will be on display at the spring show.
